SAYS W.C.T.U. WORK GOES ON

MRS. NELLIE BURGER TELLS PROGRAM OF ORGANIZATION.

OFFICERS ARE CHOSEN

Miss Alice M. Peters of Burlington Junction Is Elected President of Nodaway County Branch.

"The work of the women in the W. C. T. U. did not end with the passing of the Eighteenth Amendment," stated Mrs. Nellie Berger, of Springfield, who is co-operating with the Nodaway County chapter of the organization in the convention held at the Christian Church today.

"We should now carry on in the support of better law-enforcement, the passing of needed legislation, and in the work with the youths of America. The W. C. T. U. is organizing a young peoples' branch this year and aims to secure one million people during the year," she said.

Mrs. Berger also spent some time in an anti-narcotic appeal to the women. This curse is supplanting the liquor traffic that formerly abounded, according to the speaker.

In the meeting this afternoon Miss Alice M. Peters of Burlington Junction was elected president of the county organization. Miss Jennie White of Burlington Junction was elected vice-president; Miss Olie Carpenter of Clearmont, secretary; Mrs. E. K. Lambert of Conception, was elected corresponding secretary; and Mrs. R. L. McDougal was elected treasurer of the county organization.

The attendance of the convention was small, due to the rain and bad roads.

A resolution was passed at the meeting today urging the teaching of law observance in the schools "as the most effective measure of bringing law enforcement to our nation." The resolution also urged the co-operation of the press "for the statement of the true facts and benefits of prohibition."

The Nodaway County W. C. T. U., stands for the loyal observance and strict enforcement of law relating to prohibition, the resolution continues.

"We will support and honor all county officers in their efforts to execute these laws in the county," it continued.

The observance of Temperance Sunday was also urged and the church board was thanked for the use of the Chrustian Church building for the meeting today.

Cunningham Rites Held This Afternoon

Body Arrives This Morning From Decatur, Ill.—Services Held at Price Funeral Home

The body of Mrs. Margaret Cunningham, who died Friday afternoon at her home in Decatur, Ill., arrived in Maryville this morning, and was accompanied by a son and daughter, David K. Cunningham and Mrs. Bessie Porterfield, both of Decatur. Funeral services were held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Price Funeral Chapel conducted by the Rev. S. P. Allison of the Presbyterian Church. Burial was in Miriam cemetery beside the body of her husband, John Cunningham, who died in 1909.

Mrs. Cuningham had been an invalid for a number of years. She was 80 years old and was born at Guelph, Ontario, Canada. For a long time the family lived on a farm, three miles south of Maryville, Mrs. Cunningham leaving here about eight years ago. Another daughter, Mrs. J. D. Setzer of Sunnyvale, Cal., also survives. She leaves the following sisters: Mrs. Helen Hopkins of Maryville, Mrs. William Thompson of Meeker, Okla., and Mrs. R. L. Thompson of Virginia, Ill.

Other relatives who were here for the funeral were: Mrs. Charles Hudson and daughter, Miss Helen Hudson, Lincoln, Neb., Mrs. Ethel Hopkins, St. Joseph, and Mrs. Margaret Dodds, Miss Floy Dodds, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Dodds and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Dodds, all of Bolckow.

Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Dunshee and son of Stanberry visited in Maryville yesterday with Mrs. Dunshee's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Godsey.

Miss Neva Sage at the Dr. R. C. Person's office is taking a two weeks vacation and Miss Opal Jones is in charge of her work.

Head Beardless Wheat Measures Four Inches

J. J. Hall and family, 911 East Third street, drove to Sheffield, Kan., yesterday to visit a brother-in-law, R. D. Fleming, formerly of near Graham.

Mr. Hall brought back a sample of beardless wheat, fifty stems in the bunch, which will average one-third larger than Missouri's crop, said Mr. Hall. The wheat was taken from a fifty-acre field and the heads measure four inches and Mr. Hall said that it stood waisthigh in the field.

He also said that the corn is about the same in Missouri as it is in Kansas but around Sheffield the oats, alfalfa were ahead of Missouri's crops.

JOY RIDE ENDS IN JAIL HERE

ROCK PORT MAN IN CAR ACCIDENT EARLY YESTERDAY.

IS CUT AND BRUISED

Sheriff Campbell Is Holding Frank Moss For Atchison County Officials —Car Is Demolished.

While roaming around the country with not much idea where he was going, Frank Moss of Rock Port ended his joy ride in a 1925 Ford coupe by running off an embankment into the ditch north of Sunny Brook, about fifteen miles southwest of Maryville, at 1 o'clock yesterday morning.

Moss was badly bruised and suffering injuries from broken glass. He was brought into Maryville by Sheriff L. B. Campbell. Here a surgeon extracted a big piece of glass from his side. This morning Sheriff Campbell was holding Moss for Sheriff Pitzer of Atchison County, as Moss is out on $3,000 bail and other charges are to be brought against him in Atchison County, it is understood at the local sheriff's office.

Moss is supposed to have been under the influence of intoxicating liquor at the time of the accident. No liquor was found in his possession or in the car by the officers. The car was demolished when it went into the ditch.

Sheriff Sampbell said this morning he did not think that any charges would be brought against Moss in this county in view of the fact he is wanted in Atchison County.

When asked where he was going by the sheriff, Moss replied: "To some kind of a Junction over here," but it was finally gotten out of him that Mound City was his supposedly destination.

All Weeds in City Ordered to Be Cut

A war will be made on unsightly weeds growing on lots and parkways this week. Mayor W. O. Garrett, in a notice in the Democrat-Forum and Tribune, states that property owners and tenants are required by a city ordinance to cut weeds on lots and parkways owned or occupied by them.

The property owners or tenants are notified by Mayor Garrett to cut and clean up the places at once.

Italy's Idol

BEETLES ARE CAUSING GRIEF

CAN BE CONTROLLED BY DUSTING WITH LEAD ARSENATE.

YOUNG CHICKS TROUBLE

Profitable to Feed Balanced Ration to Poultry—Orchard Trees Should be Protected Against Insects.

By J. ROSS FLEETWOOD,
Nodaway County Extension Agent.

The cucumber beetle is causing a lot of grief at this time of the year. These may be controlled by persistent dusting with lead arsenate powder.

IF CHICKENS DROOPY MOVE BROODER HOUSE.

Many flock owners are having trouble with their young chicks at this time. The chicks have rumpled feathers, wings droop, head is held close to body and a general unhealthy, sleepy appearance is presenjed. Oftimes there is a thin white discharge. This condition is probably due to intestinal worms and disease called Coccidiosis; a germ disease of the intestinal tract. The chicks get this disease from running on old infested runs and grounds. The treatment for this disease is very unsatisfactory but now is the time to start proceedings to get away from the trouble another year. If you are having trouble of this nature with your chicks you should move your brooder house to new grounds and never allow the next year's crop of young chicks to range on the old grounds until they are matured. You will be surprised at the effect sanitation and clean grounds will have upon the health and vitality of your flock.

HENS WELL FED WILL NOT MOLT PREMATURELY.

The Missouri Experiment Station through a series of experiments covering a period of years have proven that it is profitable to feed a balanced ration to the poultry flock. A good balanced ration for summer feeding is three pounds wheat bran, three pounds shorts and one and one-half pounds of tankage or meat scrap as a mash—ten pounds of corn shelled or cracked, five pounds oats wheat milo or kaffir, as scratch food for each 100 hens every day. The mash should be kept before the hens at all times.

The grain can be fed at night and morning. If three gallons of skim-milk per 100 hens is available the tankage or meatscrap may be dispensed with. In addition oyster shell or ground lime rock and clean water should be before the hens at all times. Hens which are liberally fed during the summer months will not go into a premature molt. When this does happen the molt is usually a slow process and the hen usually doesn't lay much until the late winter.

TIME NOW FOR FOURTH SUMMER APPLE SPRAY.

Many orchardists realize the value of keeping the fruit and foliage fully protected against disease and insects during the early part of the growing season. In order to do this it is necessary to apply from four to six sprayings each season. The fourth summer spray for apples should be applied now, if it hasn't already been applied, to give protection against blotch, scab, curculio and coddling moth.

If blotch is present use bordeaux mixture. Where blotch is not present lime sulphur may be used at the rate of one and one-fourth gallons lime-sulphur to forty-eight and three-fourths gallons of water, add one pound dry arsenate of lead.

To make Bordeaux moisture (50 gal). Dissolve three pounds of copper sulphate (blue stone) in a gallon of water and dilute to twenty-five gallons. In a separate container slake four pounds lump lime (use six pounds hydrated lime) and dilute to twenty-five gallons. Pour the two solutions simultaneously into the spray tanks, add one pound of dry arsenate of lead, made into a thin paste with water, and the spray is ready to use.

RECENT RAINS SWELL RIVERS

BURLINGTON JUNCTION REPORTS FOUR INCHES.

NODAWAY IS RISING

But No Great Damage Is Reported As Result of Precipitation And Some Hail—Horse Is Killed.

Rain falling throughout Nodaway County in the last twenty-four hours and varying from 1.38 inches in Maryville to four inches at Burlington Junction, has swollen the streams and rivers in the county but the flood crest has not been reached, according to a number of reports.

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, the One Hundred and Two River had risen about five feet and was remaining steady, it was said at the city pumping station.

The rainfall in Maryville measured 1.38 inches, according to J. R. Brink, official weather observer. The highest temperature here yesterday was ninety degrees, Mr. Brink said.

At Burlington Junction, four inches of rain was reported since 1 o'clock this morning. The river there is bank full. The hillsides were badly washed but there was no hail. There was a slight electrical storm in the vicinity of Burlington Junction, but no serious damage has been reported.

Hail fell about 8 o'clock yesterday morning in the vicinity three miles west of Burlington Junction. It was so slight that no serious damage is reported.

At Quitman it was said that the Nodaway River had been nearly bank full up until about 8 or 9 o'clock this morning when it started to fall. No damage was reported from there.

The Nodaway River was about two-thirds bank full near Graham at 9:30 o'clock this morning. It was said that it was rising slowly.

E. W. Geyer of Graham who was in Maryville this afternoon reported the rain this morning at Graham was about two inches. He says there was no damage in that community.

Henry Moore, living four and a half miles east of Graham, reported two and a fourth inches of rain at his place. He says there was very little damage done and reported crop prospects as very good.

Judge Charles S. Armstrong of the county court who was here for a meeting of the court reported there was about an inch and a half of rain this morning at Barnard. No damage was reported, he states.

Judge James Billingsley of Clearmont estimated the rain in the Clearmont community as about three inches. He says some of the ridge land had been washed some but the prospects are very good for a big corn crop. The Nodaway River at Clearmont was reported as two-thirds full.

A horse owned by Lige Groome, living south of Wilcox, was killed by lightning last night.

Tries to Impeach Mrs. Arnold's Testimony

Kansas City, June 15.—In a desperate effort to bring William H. Arnold to the gallows for the murder of Lawrence Hatfield, Pinkerton detective, the state today sought to impeach the testimony of Mildred Arnold, wife of the defendant and over whom Arnold is alleged to have killed Hatfield. She also is charged with the murder. The state also called to the stand J. F. Laster, Joplin, Mo., detective, who returned Mrs. Arnold to Kansas City after her arrest, for rebuttal testimony. Roy Coyne, Joplin prosecutor, also was called.

CALLES MUST KEEP PLEDGE

HE INTIMATES MEXICAN GOVERNMENT THREATENED.

NEXT STEP UNKNOWN

If Mexican President Had Not Made Reply He Would Have Admitted Weakness.

Washington, June 15—President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg returned to Washington today to find an eight-hundred-word statement cabled from Mexico City for publication in the United States.

That Calles accepted the challenge offered by Secretary Kellogg that Mexico must live up to her international obligations, indicating that Mexico had been insulted, that Kellogg had been neither truthful nor just and declaring that the sovereignty of the Mexican government had been threatened is intimated in the Calles statement.

The upshot of the situation today following publication of two of the bluntest and most bristling public statements issued on behalf of governments in this hemisphere for many years is that relations between the United States and Mexico are dangerously near the breaking point. The statement of President Calles has the same status as the one by Secretary Kellogg. It was not a formal note addressed to the government of the United States but simply an exposition of his views for publication in the newspapers.

It was pointed out in diplomatic circles today that the manner in which Calles' reply to Kellogg was the only way which he had to make his position clear both at home and abroad, and if he had remained silent to the American attitude he would have acknowledged weakness to the citizens of his own country.

What the next step of this government would be was undetermined, although it was declared Kellogg could not go much further than in his statement of Friday.

Washington, June 15—Action and not words is what the United States wants from Mexico.

This was the reply in high administration circles today to President Calles statement criticising Secretary Kellogg, for his demands that Mexico discharge her international obligations if she is to longer receive the support of the United States in establishing a stable government.

Mrs. Susan A. Helwig Dies This Afternoon

Aged Woman Succumbs at Her Home Following Extended Illness—Had Been Resident Here Since 1910.

Mrs. Susan A. Helwig, 82 years old, died at 3:20 o'clock this afternoon at her home, 523 West Fourth street, following an extended illness of creeping paralysis with uremic poisoning as a later complication. Mrs. Helwig's condition had been critical for the last month. No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

Mrs. Helwig had been a resident of Maryville since December, 1910. She came here from Trenton, Mo., where she was born November 20, 1842, and had lived al her life until her removal to Maryville. Surviving her are three children, two daughters, Misses Orril and Katherine Helwig of Maryville and one son, S. B. Helwig of Little Rock, Ark. The latter with his wife were summoned here about a week ago. One brother, Thomas Hughes of Kingman, Kan., also survives. Mr. Helwig died in June, 1902.

Mrs. Helwig was a member of the Baptist Church and when health permitted was actively identified with its various organizations. She bore the distinction of being the oldest member of the Maryville Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and was also affiliated with the Eastern Star Chapter.

Bad Weather Delays Start Relief Party

Two Seaplanes Make Successful Flights to Advent Bay But Wait For Better Weather.

London, June 15.—Inclement weather today delayed the start from Spitzbergen of the Norwegian government's relief expedition to search for the Amundsen polar flyers. Advises from Spitzbergen today said two seaplanes had made successful flights to Advent Bay but were waiting for more favorable weather conditions.

Texas Ranchers Are Stationed on Border

Are Posted There to Prevent Any Possible Invasion by Mexican Bandits.

Austin, Tex., June 15.—Practically the entire force of Texas rangers have been stationed along the boundary line between the United States and Mexico it was learned here today.

The rangers were posted at the bounday to prevent any possible invasion by Mexican bandits, it was said.

History, as the numerous disagreements between the United State and Mexico shows, that Mexican bandits have become active in harrassing Texas ranch owners along the border.

ROAD HEARING SET FOR TUES.

COUNTY COURT TO MEET AT DAVIS SCHOOL THEN.

PETITION PRESENTED

Also a Remonstrance Filed Today Against Road One Mile West From Davis Schoolhouse.

The county court will meet at 10 o'clock the morning of June 23 for the purpose of holding a hearing in regard to the opening of a public road in White Cloud township, located one mile west of the pavement south of Maryville at the Davis schoolhouse.

Earlier in the morning the judges of the county court will personally view the proposed road and afterwards hear applications of both sides of the matter.

This afternoon the court was in special session, at which time a petition requesting the county court to open this designated public road, was presented to the court signed by 141 petitioners. Also a remonstrance against the opening of this road was presented to the court, signed by sixty-one remonstrators.

The road for which the petition asks to be opened for public use would abutt the land owned by James Davidson, Edward Busby, Joseph Henderson and Douglas N. Hoshor. These sixty-one persons protested on the grounds that there is a road a half mile south and a half mile north of the proposed road that serves the purpose, also that this new road would cause a great expense for new fencing, bridging, damages and is not a necessity.

It is the contention of those who live in White Cloud township, in and near Graham, Maitland and Skidmore, that if this mile is opened up from the pavement west one mile, it will

CHINESE KILL BRITISH

Radicals In Oriental Country Are Openly Calling For War With Great Britain Because of Murders.

London, June 15.—Japan is understood to have sent China a note of protest on the situation in China and particularly on the burning of the Japanese consulate in Kiu Kiang.

Shanghai, June 15.—W. W. MacKenzie, British, was killed and a woman companion wounded when Chinese held them up on the outskirts of this city today.

Shanghai, June 15—Open demands that China declare war on Great Britain are being made by Chinese radicals here today. The demands come as a culmination to a wave of anti-British feeling that has been sweeping over China as a result of the killing of eight Chinese by British marines in Hankow last week.

Sections of the Chinese press are today publishing warlike editorials urging immediate severance of diplomatic relations with Great Britain.

London, June 15—Seven hundred Yunnanese soldiers were butchered by the victorious Cantonese troops who captured Canton from the Yunnanese last Friday, a dispatch to the Central News from Canton today declared. Many of the Yunnanese captured in the fall of the city later were set free only to be beaten and stoned to death. Others were drowned in the harbor. One Yunnanese officer was crucified on a telephone pole and another was saved from the mob by intervention of British and American sailors outside the French concessions.

London, June 15—The foreign powers today regarded the Chinese situation as "serious," the British foreign office said, and another British warship is being sent to Hankow. Eight Chinese rioters were killed at Hankow several days ago by British marines and the Chinese government has made an official protest to Great Britain against the incident.

Shanghai, June 15.—"The Cantonese forces, when they entered the city, were accompanied by Russian military advisers who directed the fight and to whom the Cantonese victory undoubtedly is due," American Consul Jenkins has reported. He also said that there had been some looting, beating and kiling of the Yunnanese forces.

Firemen are Victims of 'Frisco Blazes

Damage of Over $1,100,000 is Caused By Two Fires in Western City Early This Morning

San Francisco, June 15—One fireman was killed, two were rendered unconscious by smoke, and damage estimated at over $1,100,000 was done by two fires in San Francisco early today. The first fire destroyed the plant of the Berg Bros. confectionery. Damage was estimated at over $100,000. While the Berg Bros. fire was still burning, a disastrous blaze broke out in the packing house district in south San Francisco, sweeping four large packing plants and causing damage estimated at about a million dollars.

Billion Dollars More Exports Than Imports

Washington, June 15.—America's favorable balance of trade for the eleven months ending June 1, was $1,038,000,000, the department of commerce announced today. This record for post-war commerce represents exports of $4,540,941,000 and imports of $3,502,114,000, or a total foreign trade of more than eight billion dollars. The excess of exports over imports for the same period in 1923-24 was $724,600,000.

The Weather

More or less unsettled to-night and Tuesday, probably local thunderstorms; slightly cooler to-night in the central portion and in the south portion Tuesday.

MEANING OF GITLOW DECISION

All Benjamin Gitlow did was to advocate, publicly, the violent destruction of governments. This and nothing more. He was arrested, tried and convicted of violating the New York state criminal anarchy statute. He and his friend protested that the law was unconstitutional. Gitlow took an appeal to the United States supreme court, which has held the statute constitutional. Consequently, Gitlow's conviction is legal and the penalty assigned valid.

Every citizen here has the right to advocate a change of government. But none has the right to agitate for making the change by force. The method of change is provided in the Constitution. Changes take place every election. That is pursuant to one of the popular liberties that the Gitlows would take away from the people, substituting therefor a tyranny of their own.

Some automobilists drive like they were trying to catch up with their installments.

What is happening in China is a display of the political wares of Russian Bolshevists.

It looks like the validity of the state income tax law may be tested. Mayor Miller of St. Louis claims that it is unconstitutional and has refused to make further returns. He says he made a return three years ago in which his losses were listed as well as his income and that the State refused to make allowance for the losses. He says, unless the law permits this, it is unconstitutional and that he will contest it. The collector in St. Louis, it is said, will bring suit against Miller and 2,000 other delinquents who have failed to make returns, according to the state law. The law has been declared constitutional on test cases.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer.

Washington—Nobody home. That's the hot weather rule in Washington—the almost invariable rule, so far as persons of the slightest importance are concerned—of the slightest importance officially or socially.

There probably isn't another city in the world which empties itself so completely during the summer. For one thing, it's mighty hot. For another, it's the fashion.

To be caught here in June, July or August is disgraceful—if you amount to anything.

Not but what government business goes on as usual, but it's transacted by assistants.

They understand it better, on an average, than the department heads. Many of them have spent lifetimes on the jobs they handle. Their bosses are just serving comparatively short political terms.

As for actual accomplishment, there doubtless is more of it right now than with all the impressive chiefs on hand to butt into matters they're unfamiliar with.

But if, for some reason or other, you do want to see one of these exalted individuals, his office in Washington's the last place where you're likely to find him at present.

Try Bar Harbor, Newport, Atlantic City, back home, almost any place except here. You simply will be wasting time bothering with the capital.

According to the papers, about 20 leading universities and colleges sought to "honor" President Coolidge on their respective commencement days by conferring academic degrees on him.

If they were so anxious to "honor" him, why didn't they go ahead and do their conferring? But it's to be noted that, in almost every instance, the degree was contingent on the president's appearance in person to receive it.

"Why? Were the universities afraid they might "honor" the wrong president unless they had the only genuine one in the country corporeally on hand, duly identified, mugged and thumbprinted?

Not a bit of it. What they had in mind wasn't so much "honoring" anybody as advertising, and not advertising President Coolidge, either.

The universities wanted the president just as each wants a crack football team—to make a splash for itself with.

The president is half a dozen times a "LL. D." anyway. Evidently he didn't consider it necessary to have it rubbed in by an additional score of universities, for he accepted none of the latest batch of invitations to be "honored."

When Secretary of Commerce Hoover called recently for a reorganization, reclassification and simplification, together with quite an extensive extermination, of the government's almost innumerable bureaus, boards and commissions, "employing several hundred thousand people, directly under the president, directly under Congress, or thrown hodge-podge into 10 different executive departments"—when Secretary Hoover did this, he outlined a job to make the hardiest politician shudder.

The present system just "growed," bit by bit, until the war, during which and ever since which, it has "growed" like a 1,000,000-horsepower mushroom. Its complications are inexpressible.

Compared with taking it apart, scrapping a lot of it and putting it together scientifically, destroying the whole government and creating a new one would be easy.

Besides, every stage of the work would be fought tooth and nail by officials, fearful of losing their jobs or a mite of importance.

However, Hoover so fully made out his case—duplication, inefficiency, waste, utter uselessness—that Congress simply will have to do something about it, probably at its next session.

THIS WEEK IN MISSOURI HISTORY.

By Floyd Shoemaker, Sec. Mo. Historical Society.

The seventeenth day of June sixty-four years ago signalized the first battle of the Civil War in Missouri. This was the Battle of Boonville, variously called the Battle of Elliott's Springs from its location, and the Battle of the Boonville Races from the character of the advance and retreat of the State forces. Insignificant in numbers engaged, and in two or three men killed on each side, it still outranks many larger combats. It was a hard blow to the position and prestige of Governor Jackson and his State forces. It was a deep thrust at the invincibleness of the native Missourian as a fighter when opposed by the "St. Louis Dutch." It was a revelation to the southern leaders of the weakness of courage and enthusiasm when opposed to disciplined, well armed troops. It secured to the Federals control of the Missouri river and cut in half the potential strength of the State cause. Its positive influence favorable to General Lyon and his cause was equally marked. The Battle of Boonville may have been merely the engagement of Elliott's Springs or even the Boonville Races, but it stands first in chronology and high in consequences of the Civil War in Missouri.

The battle itself was a small affair. Of the 2,000 Federals under General Nathaniel Lyon, only 1,000 were engaged. About the same proportion of Colonel John S. Marmaduke's 3,000 State troops took part. The artillery arms, and discipline of Lyon's men easily won over numbers and enthusiasm unsupported by adequate guns and training. The battle began at eight o'clock in the morning, four to six miles east of Boonville on the Elliott farm. It was decided in half an hour, and the fast retreat was over before noon.

General Price had left the day before for his home in Chariton county to recover from illness. He and Jackson had counselled retreat, but their confident recruits could not be restrained. After the battle, which an eyewitness described as a "helter-skelter, pell mell" sort of affair, Governor Jackson fled on horse to Saline county, then south to Osage. The Federals took possession of the camp and equipment of Colonel Marmaduke, and the city of Boonville was formally surrendered by Mayor O'Brien. National flags supplanted southern banners and a company of Union Home Guards was formed.

The converging on Price's headquarters at Lexington of Lyon's men from the east Iowa troops from the north, and Kansas troops from the west, forced the State militia to take up its line southward along the Osago. So quickly were the results of the Battle of Boonville felt, that northern and central Missouri were in Federal hands within two weeks.

If not unique, the Battle of Boonville is at least exceptional. In numbers engaged, few; in length, brief; in fatalities, a football contest; but in effect, significant. It was a battle, the opening of a war, but the press accounts are descriptions of an almost friendly contest, marred by a few accidents, between rival parties, schools, or towns. "Rebels" and "Dutch" were bandied about like "Democrats" and "Republicans," "Tigers" and "Jayhawks." Courage was conceded foe, and ridicule rather than anathema was the weapon of writers. Lyon was again a casualty as at Camp Jackson, and again the howitzer was a horse. The best armed company of State troops was not engaged and none of their artillery was in action. Adequate arms and big guns were the greatest needs of Colonel Marmaduke in this battle. Again, Lyon had no calvary. Marmaduke had horses, but the State militia entered and left the field on foot.

From June 11th to the 17th, the course of events in Missouri had run tragically and humorously. Governor Jackson had issued a call to arms in a proclamation bordering on declamation. He then left Jefferson City for Boonville, and Boonville for Arrow Rock, and Arrow Rock for the Osage River and Lamar. The state government was in hurried flight but with high courage was preparing without equipment or training to oppose accoutred regulars. Lyon entered Jefferson City on the 15th. Many rejoiced, none opposed. The convicts in the penitentiary arose but on seeing 300 Federals in line at the gates gave a "Hurrah for Lincoln." The Federals felt at home in the capital city but the reporter says that "after imbibing too freely of groceries, many of them became unruly." On their river passage to Boonville they passed Marion City where they were joyously received. They reached Rocheport in Boone County at six o'clock on Monday morning, the day of the battle, and made a short stop "but found the people mostly surly and not disposed to be communicative." There was reason for editors reporting the Battle of Boonville in St. Atements courteous and mild.

WHAT THE ARCTIC HOLDS.

To most persons the Arctic regions suggest nothing but eternal ice, a land of a day six months in length, but no summer. Yet, there are those who see possibilities of resources within that forbidding zone which prove of great value to mankind. A writer in a June publication suggests that lying to the south and west of the Pole just above Alaska, is one million square miles into which no man has gone. What is there no one knows.

But that this region contains metals, minerals or other resources is possible. Alaska, a few hundred miles to the south, has gold, silver, copper, coal, oil, platinum and many other products. By analogy may it not be assumed that what near-Arctic localities have in abundance may also extend poleward? Such is the method of reasoning. The conclusion is purely speculative, but the possibility is luring to adventurous souls. At least such want to know what is in this unseen land, if land it be.

The desire to know what lay beyond the nearest mountain range led our primitive forebears to explore. It is the lure which has in all ages beckoned to adventure and often to profit. The obstacles in the way increase the incentive. Those with imagination of what things of value may lie within the Arctic Circle may be wrong in every detail, but they will not be satisfied until they are demonstrated wrong and then the mystery of the ice-locked land will not be a mystery any longer. So long as the secrets are unrevealed there will be volunteers engaged in seeking to unravel them.

It is suggested also that in the unexplored Arctic may lie great deposits of radium. There is a theory that the Aurora Borealis is a rainbow from a radium deposit. Thus there is the appeal to science as well as the incentive of profit from discoveries to take men northward. The portrayal of the possible riches of the polar region may be a chimera only, but there are those who believe exploration worth while. They want to know. Hence the venture.

Nothing Can Stop Dance at Country Club Wednesday

The committee in charge of dances at the Country Club has met with rather unfortunate conditions whenever there is a dance advertised at the Country Club.

Lodge Says Evolution Is Hope of World

"Don't Be Frightened By This Word 'Evolution,'" Famous British Scientist Says in Address.

London, June 15.—The science of evolution today found a new and enthusiastic champion in the person of Sir Oliver Lodge, former president of the Society of Psychicst Research.

"Don't be frightened by the word 'evolution,'" Sir Oliver said in a speech. "The word has frightened the people of America."

Those present took this as a reference to the forthcoming trial in Tennessee of Prof. John Scopes, who was indicted for teaching the theory of evolution.

"I don't know what the people of America think the word 'evolution' means, but evolution is the hope of the world," Lodge said.

Building Economy and ATLAS

One reason concrete is used so generally today is because Portland Cement actually costs less than thirty years ago.

The Rotary Kiln, developed by The Atlas Portland Cement Company, produces as much cement in one day as the old-time kiln did in thirty days. It made possible a uniform standard of quality, and proved the greatest single factor in assuring a low-priced product.

And your building material dealer, the only distributing channel between Atlas and you, assures distribution economy.

President Calles of Mexico Issues Curt Reply to Secretary Kellogg

The Two Views.

The government of Mexico now is on trial before the world. We have been patient and realize, of course, that it takes time to bring about a stable government, but we cannot countenance violation of its obligations and failure to protect American citizens—Secretary Kellogg in his statement of Friday.

Mexico does not accord foreign country the right to intervene in its domestic affairs, nor is it disposed to subordinate its international relations to the exigencies of any other country.—President Calles.

Washington, June 15.—Affairs between the United States and Mexico took a swift turn in the direction of a crisis yesterday, it is believed here, when President Calles of Mexico issued a curt statement replying to that made two days ago by Secretary Kellogg.

President Calles's rejoinder is arrogant and defiant in tone. It is almost threatening. President Calles accuses Secretary Kellogg of being contradictory as to facts and asserts it is a duty to his government to "rectify said statements as required by truth and justice."

The text of the statement of President Calles of Mexico in reply to that made by Secretary Kellogg:

"Declarations of the state department have been published, in which Mr. Kellogg, answering some questions relating to the visit of Ambassador Sheffield to said department, affirms that some properties of American citizens have been taken illegally in Mexico, for which no compensation has been made, and, in one instance, taken by the Mexican government on account of unreasonable demands of labor.

"At the same time, he refers to the joint claims commission, stating he is convinced the Mexican government wishes to comply with the conventions and indemnity for the properties taken from American citizens; that he has seen the statements published in the press that another revolutionary movement may be intended in Mexico, and the department of state very much hopes this is not true, the attitude of said department being to use its influence and lend its support in behalf of the stability and orderly constitutional procedure in Mexico; but it makes clear that the American government will continue to support the government in Mexico only so long as it protects American lives and American rights and complies with its international engagements and obligations. He adds that the government of Mexico now is on trial before the world.

"It is a duty for my government to rectify said statements, as required by truth and justice.

"The best proof that Mexico is willing to comply with its international obligations and to protect the life and interests of foreigners lies in the fact that, although, according to international law, it was not bound to it, it invited all the nations whose citizens or subjects might have suffered damages through acts executed in the political upheavals that have taken place in the country, with a view to conclude with them conventions to establish joint commissions that might consider damages in order to grant due indemnifications.

"Besides that, another convention was entered into with the United States to adjust claims of citizens of both countries against the other and in said convention are included all cases in which properties or rights might have been affected in disagreement with the Mexican laws. Therefore, so long as the aforesaid commissions do not adjust the cases submitted to their decision, it is irrevelant to charge Mexico with failure to protect American interests in violation of its international obligations.

"The application of the agrarian laws cannot be a subject of complaint because Mexico has issued them in the exercise of its soverignity and, apart from that, the state department, in behalf of the American citizens, has accepted the form of indemnification prescribed by the Mexican laws.

"It is to be regretted that contradiction is found in Mr. Kellogg's statements when he decinres the United States has the greatest interest in the maintenance of order in Mexico and in the stability of her government, and at the same time states he has seen news of revolutionary movements, since this last affirmation tends to cast same alarm in the world in regard to the conditions of my country; and finally, the statement that the government of the United States will continue to support the government of Mexico only so long as it protects American interests and lives and complies with its international engagements and obligations embodies a threat to the sovereignty of Mexico which it cannot overlook and rejects with all energy, because it does not accord to any foreign country the right to intervene in any form in its domestic affairs, nor is it disposed to subordinate its international relations to the exigencies of any other nation or country.

"The statement under reference affirms also that the American ambassador has succeeded in protecting American as well as foreign interests, and if he has thus succeeded, he has no right to charge Mexico with failure to protect said interests, and attention should be called to the fact that said ambassador does not represent any other foreigners but his own fellow-citizens, and Mexico could not admit that without its previous authorization the American ambassador should act in behalf of persons or interests alien to those of his country.

"If the government of Mexico, as affirmed, now is on trial before the world, such is the case with the government of the United States, as well as all those of other countries; but if it is to be understood that Mexico is on trial in the guise of a defendant, my government absolutely rejects with energy such imputation, which in essence would mean only an insult.

"To conclude, I declare my government, totally conscious of the obligations imposed by international law, is determined to comply with them, and, therefore, to extend true protection to the lives and interests of foreigners; that it accepts and hopes to receive the help and support of all the other countries based only on a sincere and loyal co-operation and according to the invariable practice of international friendship; but in no way shall it admit that a government of any nation may pretend to create a privileged situation for its nationals in the country, nor shall it either accept any foreign interference contrary to the rights of the sovereignty of Mexico."

Taxable Personal Incomes Increased 5 Billion Dollars

Figures of Internal Revenue Bureau Show Total is $26,336,337,834.

Washington, June 15.—Taxable personal incomes in America in 1923 were shown last night by the internal revenue bureau to have amounted to $26,336,837,834, or five billion dollars more than the 1922 total.

The bureau's figures made public in its annual analysis of personal incomes disclosed that 7,698,321 persons filed returns in the year covered by the statistics while in the pending year there were 6,787,481 returns.

Refund Has Effect.

The 7,698,321 taxpayers in 1923 contributed $703,926,165 in taxes to the government, which was approximately $157,000,000 less than the taxes paid in 1922, largely as a result of the 25 per cent refund voted by congress.

On the basis of the census bureau's population estimate for July 1, 1923, returns were filed in 1923 by 6.94 per cent of the nation's citizens while in 1922, the proportion was 6.2 per cent.

Incomes in the class of $1,000,000 and over in 1923, numbered 74, the highest point since 1917 and the third highest in the history of American income tax collection, the number in 1916 having been 206. Sixty-seven persons reported incomes of a million dollars or more in 1922. The 74 who had incomes in excess of a million dollars in 1923, paid a total of $35,788,475 in taxes.

Three Classes Increase.

The income classes from $2,000 to $5,000 continued in 1923 to be more than half, numerically of all government's tax providers and all three classes within these limits showed increases as compared with 1922. Detailed figures show that the incomes were divided as follows, for the years 1922 and 1923, respectively:

Under $1,000, 402,076, against 368,502; $1,000 to $2,000, 2,471,181, against 2,373,785; $2,000 to $3,000, 2,189,989 against 2,412,804; $3,000 to $4,000, 785,267 against 1,061,521; $4,000 to $5,000, 404,848 against 536,005; $5,000 to $10,000, 391373 against 679898; $10,000 to $15,000, 90,287 against 138,720; $15,000 to $20,000, 39,605 against 45,596; $20,000 to $25,000, 21,446 against 24,629; $25,000 to $30,000, 13,225 against 15,060; $30,000 to $40,000, 14,283 against 16,595; $40,000 to $50,000, 7,970 against 8,521; $50,000 to $100,000 to $150,000, 2,171 against 2,339; $150,000 to $200,000, 763 against 750; $200,000 to $250,000, 350 against 348; $250,000 to $300,000, 210 against 203; $300,000 to $400,000 to $500,000, 104 against 111; $500,000 to $1,000,000, 161 against 141; and $1,000,000 and over, 67 against 74.

The following table shows the number of personal returns by three southwestern states and the amount of taxes paid:

State	No. of Returns	Net Income	Tax
Kansas	86,291	216,221,069	2,141,621
MO.	192,282	632,443,938	13,588,695
Nebr.	70,545	196,192,820	2,561,495

Thirty-seven Missouri counties reported no incomes of more than $10,000.

Rushing Business to Combat Mosquitoes

New Orleans, La., June 15—Drug stores did a thriving business over the week end to combat the third major offensive against millions of black mosquitoes that descended on New Orleans.

Most everyone was armed with fly swatters or rolled newspapers warding off the pests from their drilling operations around the knees and ankles.

Standard Oil Company (Indiana) Methods Benefit Motorists

THE Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is given to action rather than to talk; to work rather than to gesture; to dogged perseverance rather than to inspiration or mood.

These habits of sticking directly to the job and getting results through concentrated application to the work in hand, benefit the motorists in several ways:

First—By keeping down the selling price of gasoline.

Second—By maintaining every product at a uniform high quality.

Third—By keeping the supply of petroleum products equal to the most extraordinary demand.

Fourth—By keeping stocks of these products at convenient points throughout the territory served, so that any patron can secure what he needs without trouble or delay.

The Management of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is responsible to its stockholders, to the public and to its employes for the thrifty and productive administration of the facilities in their care. Only hard, intelligent labor, persisted in over many years, can meet this responsibility.

This Company is a service organization, pledged to produce gasoline and oils at prices so low that everyone may use them. It regards business not as a game, but rather as a serious opportunity to serve. It believes that no spectacular gesture takes the place of zealous personal effort. Everyone in this organization works hard. From the Chairman of the Board, the President and other officers of the Company, to the office boy, the tank wagon drivers and service station attendants, every employe is concentrated on "delivering the goods" all day and every day. The most difficult undertakings are assumed willingly and with enthusiasm that customers may be served well and economically.

"Lost motion" is taboo in every Standard Oil Company (Indiana) plant. Lost motion means lost dollars to the stockholders and higher prices to the consumer.

This Company's ideal of service demands that every activity be directed efficiently to accomplish a definite task.

This constructive method of doing business is directly responsible for the success of this Company in holding down the price of gasoline, and enabling it to serve its customers well, everywhere and at all times.

Stone's Successor Aided in Organizing Bank

Cleveland, June 15.—William P. Prenter, who succeeds the late Warren S. Stone as acting president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, is one of the quietest but most influential men in the labor movement today.

As first vice president and treasurer of the brotherhood, he has been in full charge of all financial arrangements for years, and the expansion of the brotherhood's co-operative bank into a $140,000,000 institution was as much his work as it was Stone's.

WILLIAM B. PRENTER

Prenter was born in Philadelphia. He moved to the northwest at an early age and became a fireman on the Canadian Pacific Railroad.

After serving his apprenticeship he became an engineer, and graduated into the executive ranks of the brotherhood some twenty-five years ago.

Quiet and uncommunicative, he never attained the national prominence that Stone knew, but when the brotherhood began to expand its banking activities, gaining a foothold first in Cleveland, later in New York, and then in many other cities, Prenter was the man behind the scenes who did a good share of the planning.

He is now the oldest ranking officer in the brotherhood, and at the time of Stone's death was cashier of the bank.

Prenter is 68. He lives in a comfortable home here with his wife and daughter.

His subordinates describe him as a man who works 12 hours a day and shuns publicity.

Pastor Scores Rouge and Warns Women

Those With Painted Lips And Cheeks Can No Longer Take Communion At San Antonio Church.

San Antonio, Tex., June 15.—Rouged lips today were denied the communion cup at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church here. Notice that this step was to be taken was given yesterday by the Rev. A. C. Dusseau, pastor, in a warning that henceforth women in his church could not mix paint with religion.

"Women who seek to receive holy communion with rouged lips and cheeks are not showing proper reverence," the Reverend Mr. Dusseau said.

Washington—The Winslow bill, regulating airplanes somewhat as autos are regulated now, will be strongly urged at the next session of Congress.

As good an authority as W. A. Mara, one of the country's foremost experts on the subject, says at least 90 per cent of today's aviation accidents are due to recklessness, inexperience or defective planes.

Aviation's friends want to cut out this 90 per cent, not only as a matter of present importance, but also because they believe America is on the eve of a period of great aerial development and don't want disasters to increase correspondingly.

With proper precautions, they say airplanes will be as safe as railroad trains.

New Ruling to Assure Disposition of Mail

Postage For Return Or Forwarding Of Packages Must Be Guaranteed By Sender After August 1.

All persons mailing c. o. d. or insured packages after August 1 will be required to guarantee postage for their return or forwarding, according to a communication received at the Maryville postoffice today. It is thought that this will eliminate a number of packages being sent to the deadletter office on account of insufficient address. There are a number of packages at the local postoffice now which cannot be delivered because the persons to whom they are addressed cannot be found.

After the new ruling goes into effect August 1, if the person sending the package does not care to have it returned or forwarded, he must state this on the outside of the package.

Defense Scores Heavy in McClintock Trial

Testimony of Doctor Is Weakened When He Fails to Identify Shepherd As Prospective Bacteriology Student.

Chicago, June 15.—The defense scored an important victory late today in the trial of William D. The state's forces were completely taken by surprise.

Careless Passengers Lose Various Things

Hairpins To Expensive Jewelry Held By St. Louis Street Railway Company—Women Lose More.

St. Louis, June 15.—Hairpins to expensive jewelry are being held by the street railway company here—the result of careless tram car passengers.

Hundreds of articles, in the course of a year, are picked up in the street cars and laid away at the Lost Article Department according to H. T. Wetherell, who has charge of that division.

Women lose about five times as many articles as men," said Wetherell. "They leave money, hats, wrist watches, necklaces, rings and various packages when they arise from their seats. Sometimes there is an identification mark but in most cases none. Most persons seem to be at a loss to know what to do when they lose an article. All they have to do is to call the car sheds by telephone. Car crews are under instruction to turn in everything, even loose money, and they do it very religiously.

"Articles are kept for about a week at the sheds and then turned in at this central depot where valuables are retained for thirty days. At the end of that time, if no claimants have appeared, the articles go back to the car crews who found them. Anything valued at $17 or more is retained a year and a day waiting for its owner to show up. About 2,000 lost articles are turned in each month."

In the lost article department there are suitcases, hammers, hatchets, spare parts for automobiles and enough odds and ends to start a variety store.

The variety of lost articles, of course varies with the season. In rainy weather it is the umbrella. In the winter and fall it is handkerchiefs and gloves.

"What is the most odd article ever turned in" Wetherell was asked.

"Well," he mused. "I guess you won't find any to beat the baby that was left in a basket on a Wellston car. Just a plain case of desertion. The parents never did show up and it was taken to an orphanage."

Miss Elizabeth Doran and Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell and son, Hubert, motored to St. Joseph yesterday to visit their aunt, Mrs. Helen Killem, who is ill.

Chicago Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, June 15.—Grain futures slumped to a new level on the present movement at the Chicago Board of Trade today.

July wheat led, dropping 6½ cents. Distant corn futures were off 5 1-8 cents.

Corn followed wheat, despite the unusually strong feed situation that exists. The crop has good prospects, week-end rains. Conditions houses led sellers into the pitt. Shorts were active on the break.

Oats had little merit as their own and followed other grains downward. Provisions weakened, reflecting lower grade.

Second Year Growth of Sweet Clover Is Difficult to Handle

Farmers who are growing sweet clover for the first time may wonder as to the best methods of handling it. Second year sweet clover is particularly hard to handle for hay. Where possible it can probably best be used for pasture, at least during the forepart of the season until it begins to set seed and get woody.

The difficulties in handling second year sweet clover for hay are due to the danger of killing the crop by mowing, tendency to steminess and the difficulty of curing. Where the stand is thin, the stems grow coarse, and there is more of a tendency for the plant to branch out.

A thick stand, on the other hand, is more like alfalfa and can be handled in somewhat the same way. Second year sweet clover should be cut before it starts to bloom or even before any flower buds appear. The two main advantages of early cutting are that the stems will be finer and less woody and the crop will not need to be cut quite so high as it would if cut later.

Unlike alfalfa, sweet clover does not send up new shoots in the crown after it has made considerable growth the second year, but new growth is from buds on the stems.

In cutting for hay it is therefore necessary to mow the crop high enough to leave plenty of buds for a new crop. Usually the thicker the stand and the later the crop is cut the higher it should be mowed in order not to kill it as the lower buds will tend to be smothered by heavy growth.

A second cutting of hay may be secured, but generally it is not of as good quality as the first cutting, due to the tendency of the plants to become woody and set seed. The common practice is to let the second crop go for seed or use it for pasture. First-year sweet clover may be cut for hay in the fall or pastured. There is little danger of killing out the first year crop once it gets well started.

Corned Beef and Cabbage Favorite Dish

New York, June 15.—Corned beef and cabbage is the favorite dinner dish of most New Yorkers if the poll just completed by the United Restaurant Owners' Association gave an accurate picture of the metropolitan appetite.

Of the 180,000 votes cast, "red Mike and violets," as the succulent dish is known in less ornate caravansaries, led with more than 23,000. Second on the list of preferences was "vegetable dinner," with 18,549, while third place went to veal cutlet and fourth to Long Island duckling.

Miss Rogers Gained 15 Pounds in Six Weeks

Skinny Men and Women Gain 5 Pounds in 30 Days or Money Back

My dear Friends:

After my attack of Flu I was thin, rundown and weak. I had a sallow complexion, my cheeks were sunk in and I was continually troubled with gas on my stomach. I felt stuffy and had lost my appetite. I had read about McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets and decided to give them a trial. At once, I began to pick up an appetite, my cheeks filled out and my complexion became healthy looking and I gained 15 pounds in six weeks and am very thankful for what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for me.

Miss Alberta Rogers, 264 W. Cerro Gorda St., Decatur, Ill.

To take on weight, grow strong and vigorous, to fill out the hollows in cheeks and neck, try McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets for 30 days. 60 Tablets—60 cents at Maryville Drug Co., Gaugh & Evans—and live druggists everywhere. MRS. EDNA BRITTENDALL

By NEA Service.

Los Angeles, June 15—Mrs. Edna Brittendall, mother of two children, has been arrested again while masquerading as a man.

A couple of years ago she was found, in man's attire, working with a gang of day laborers.

Now she is being held as a check forger. She was neatly dressed in man's clothing, with her hair cut short, when arrested.

"It saves me from being annoyed by other men," she explained. "And I found I could make two or three times as much money dressed as a man."

Several years ago Mrs. Brittendall left her husband in Colorado and brought her children here.

She had lived in Kansas City thirty-five years, was a member of the W. C. T. U., and at one time is said to have known nearly every policeman in the city.

"Mother" delighted in aiding those just discharged from jail. She was especially interested in young boys.

Tourney Golf Match Postponed Yesterday

Three Iowa Teams are Unable to Come Here Due to Heavy Rains There Yesterday Morning.

The four-cornered golf match, Maryville-Shenandoah-Red Oak-Corning, was postponed indefinitely yesterday because of the inability of the three Iowa teams to get to Maryville, due to the heavy storms in that vicinity yesterday morning.

Forrest Gillam, president of the Iowa-Missouri Golf Association, said this afternoon that the match will probably be played off at the end of the tournament season, unless there are requests that it be played on some week day.

As four teams are scheduled to play each Sunday out of the seven clubs in the association, it will be impossible to have this match played off on a Sunday before the closing dates for the tournament.

The next match in which the golf team of the Maryville Country Club will compete is at Villisca, Ia., when the teams of the Villisca, Maryville, Hamburg and Clarinda country clubs clash.

Anderson Turns on Dry League

New York, June 15.—William H. Anderson, in a pamphlet attacking the management of the New York Anti-Saloon League, charges it has aided the wets, injured the league cause nationally and among other things has discouraged the obtaining of a defense fund for him.

Anderson was succeeded by Arthur J. Davis as state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York after he was convicted and sent to Sing Sing on a charge of forgery. He was paroled Christmas eve, after serving nine months of a minimum term of one year.

Experiments Show That Direct Tax Is Best Plan for Community Advertising

The following is the eleventh installment of the article on "Community Advertising" written by D. A. Caldwell, secretary of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce.

No county in Florida that has ever adopted the plan of deriving publicity funds by direct taxation, has ever abandoned it, because such procedure satisfies the general public well. This method of securing publicity funds, also insures the perpetuation of commercial organizations, with greater good accomplished, for the secretary can then devote his entire time and energy to the work of organization, instead of trying to collect his salary and meet current expenses.

Georgia is trying to get a similar law passed, and North Carolina is considering a $750,000.00 publicity fund. Washington, Oregon, and British Columbia recently voted $150,000.00 for joint publicity uses. In California a number of countries are operating along these lines.

A publicity tax puts every dollar to work, as no money is wasted on drives or follow-up to collect pledges, and treats all alike, because they pay according to their ability, thereby working no hardships on anyone. In large cities, one-half mill is sufficient. Even at two mills, the small taxpayer is contributing only 10-15c per year.

St. Louis derives 50 per cent of its publicity money from the city, working on the theory that "Every city that has anything to offer can well afford to spend some of its public money for advertising, because it is an 'investment' that is returned manifold.

In 1924, through taxes and voluntary contributions, the All Year Club of Southern California, secured $300,000 for publicity, 40 per cent from taxes and the balance voluntary.

The Gateway Club of El Paso, Tex., secured public funds amounting to $153,661.30.

The Hawaii Tourist Bureau, raises 25 per cent of $100,000 through a voluntary tax on tonnage paid by the merchants, 50 per cent by appropriations and the remainder by subscription.
